ART COMPETITION ENROLLMENT NOW AVAILABLE

Article by Eleanor Fitzgerald

The competition for this month is in the field of art. The theme is 'Your View of the Covid-19 Pandemic'. Any kind of visuals are accepted, just not digitally created ones. Visuals may include a poster board, tri-fold, watercolor painting, charcoal painting etc.. Prizes include cash scholarships and up to 50% discounts on our courses. Past competitions like the one we hosted in February were related to economics and one was required to come up with a theoretical business plan for a business of their choice. Competition rules are fairly simple and can be found at: https://www.canva.com/design/DAEzsf-dby0/share/preview?token=zl-3BdiXfamZq0yD725FJg&role=EDITOR&utm_content=DAEzsf-dby0&utm_campaign=designshare&utm_medium=link&utm_source=sharebutton .

PAST COMPETITORS

Jack Stone-South Forsyth High School(GA)

Our last winner in our art competition was Jack Stone. He won first place nationally through Upskill and won a $5000 scholarship and currently is studying chemical engineering at the University of North Georgia. He competed in a team of 4 and our judges were greatly impressed with his water color painting that depicted nature which was our theme for the November 2019 completion. He was then a junior in high school and is currently a sophomore in college who plans to major in Chemical engineering.

He was a very vibrant kid and enrolled in multiple courses in our organization which included engineering and economics. He always strived to ask questions during the time he was with us and it was no surprise when he placed first nationally. We encourage kids to use Jack Stone as a role model and enroll not only in competitions but also feel free to try out try out the different courses we strive to offer.

“

The opportunity to compete with Upskill provided me with a new perspective of the world and I encourage my fellow mates to do the same as it provided me with a chance to grow
